WELCOME TO THE HCA!

Summer classes at the Hopkinton Center for the Arts (HCA) are the perfect creative outlet for students who love the arts. Our artist-instructors make learning fun as they help students find their voice in a variety of different mediums, from art to movie-making.

HCA ROOTS

The HCA has come a long way since its beginning. Once part of a local farm, the property that the HCA sits on was leased by the Town of Hopkinton to a group of local artists who formed the Cultural Arts Alliance (CAA). In 2005, a plan was started to renovate the property—and in March 2011, the newly formed Hopkinton Center for the Arts became an official 501 (c)(3) nonprofit.

OPENING THE HCA ARTS CENTER

After 19 years of fundraising activity, the dream came to life. In 2015, the HCA opened the new Art Center. The newly-renovated, two-story barn includes classroom space, a beautiful exhibition gallery, and a 200-seat performance space.

The Center houses classes in dance, music, fine arts, theater, and film. It is home to year-round theatrical, dance, and musical performances. In 2016, an anonymous donor gifted funds to renovate the farmhouse first floor into a ceramics studio. Classes there are some of the most popular at the HCA.

Today the HCA serves more than 100 communities, by providing over 200 classes annually to thousands of students. No student is ever turned away due to financial need, thanks in part to the Sandra Delbridge Scholarship Fund (see page seven for details).

We want everyone to feel welcome at the HCA, whether you are taking in a show by Enter Stage Left, our resident theater company, or you are enjoying an art exhibit opening, or trying a new class. Please feel free to reach out to us at any time.

Everyone has a front-row seat to the arts at the HCA!

Sincerely,

Kelly Grill and Kris Waldman
HCA Co-Directors
